HAWAII MILL ENGINEERS GATHER IN IMPORTANT SESSION

Members of the Hawaiian Engineers' Association who will probably be heard from during the second annual convention which commences today and continues through next Tuesday; standing, from left to right, S. T. Carr, J. E. Kennedy, H. McCubbin, Irwin Spalding, James Ogg and H. S. Truscott; seated, left to right, W. G. Hall, J. E. Sheedy, E. Kopke and R. R. Mind.

An important convention is that of the association of sugar mill engineers, an integral part of the Hawaiian Engineering Association, which begins to assemble today. This afternoon there will be an informal preliminary conference of members then in town, on the roof garden of the Alexander Young hotel, to talk over the program, which was printed in full in Thursday's issue of the Star-Bulletin.

While the proceedings of the convention will be highly technical, garnished with all sorts of drawings and diagrams of mill devices, hence will not possess great popular interest, they are bound to be of signal importance to the sugar industry. There is no doubt that a great deal of the world-famed advancement of Hawaii in sugar production is due to the intelligent study and experimentation of the quiet men who direct the mechanical operations in the factory.

Regular sessions twice daily will be held on Monday and Tuesday, the association to conclude its foregathering and fraternization with a banquet and vaudeville at the Young on Tuesday night. Each day there will be excusions to industrial establishments and points of scenic interest in town and country. R. Renton Hind is chairman of the association and the entertainment committee for the convention is composed of H. C. Waldron, Charles A. Horswell, Ed Towse, H. T. Carr and J. C. Plankinton.

The following delegates arrived this morning: D. M. Simple, Hutchinson plantation; George Duncan, Olua; J. Wyllie, Pepeekeo; W. Wyllie, Onomea; J. E. Kennedy, Hakalua; M. V. Joaen, Laupahoe; H. Bethe, Kaiwika; J. S. K. Cushingham, Paauilo; F. F.

Beckert, Kukala; T. Murray, Paauilo; R. G. McInnis, Paauilo; G. W. Crank, Honokaa; W. Napier, Muli; J. H. W. Carmichael, Kona; W. Austin, Union mill; J. Russell, Hana; C. Cowan, Wailuku; H. McCubbin, Pioneer; J. Chalmers, Hana; H. K. Schofield, Kona; Mr. Marne, Olua; Mr. Milne, Olua; J. Grieve, Hilo.

The program as previously announced will be devoted from in one particular, namely, the baseball game this afternoon has been called off and those delegates in the city today are requested to attend the football game at Alexander field.

OLDSMOBILE NEGOTIATES 'POLO' HILL; CAPT. BUNKER IS 'SHOWN'

C. C. Clark, at wheel, and Captain C. M. Bunker.

A few days before Captain Bunker left Honolulu for the Coast, on leave, he had the satisfaction of being shown just what the Oldsmobile would do on a hill climber.

As everyone knows, the captain is from Missouri when it comes to automobiles, and it is needless for a salesman to attempt any fancy spell when the captain is around, because if he cannot deliver the goods the captain is sure to call him. This is just what happened a few days ago.

Captain Bunker was talking with one of the salesmen at the Schuman Carriage Company regarding the little Oldsmobile, and the conversation turned to its ability on the hills. The claim was made that the car would climb any of the negotiable hills around Honolulu on high gear.

"Hold on there!" exclaimed the wary captain. "Bet you fifty you can't carry me over the polo ground hill on the high gear." "You're on," came right back from Mr. Salesman. The captain stood by his guns, and with no other preparation than filling the oil reservoir the two jumped into an Oldsmobile and sped away for 'polo hill'.

Without the least hesitation or faltering the little aristocrat sped along around the sharp curve approaching the hill and on to the top, and it was so easy it was a shame to take the money. The captain satisfied, the car was turned around, taken to the foot of the hill and sent at it again without any start whatever. Again there was no faltering but, starting with only a speed of ten miles an hour at the foot of the hill the speed was increased to seventeen miles when the top was reached.

Captain Bunker was greatly surprised and did not hesitate to say that he did not believe there was another small four-cylinder car in the territory which would do this work with such apparent ease.

BIG ISLAND IS PLANNING FOR NEW CEMETERY

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

HILO, Hawaii, Oct. 16.—The Hilo Board of Trade has approved a site map of the railway track in the Alae tract, about two miles out of town and on the way to Honohi gulch, as the location for a municipal cemetery. At its meeting last Tuesday the Board accepted the suggestion of its president, D. E. Metager, and the secretary was instructed to notify Land Commissioner J. D. Tucker that this site would be preferred as a burial ground, its size to depend upon requirements for lots.

Hilo's need of a burying ground is imperative and has been recognized for many months, but until now no site could be agreed upon as satisfactory. Chief Sanitary Inspector D. S. Bowman called the attention of the board Tuesday to the fact that there is room for only six more graves in Honolulu cemetery, and that unless a new plot were chosen immediately the undertakers would find themselves possessed of an increasing number of cadavers with no place to put them.

Inspector Bowman recommended Alae tract, a plat lying between the railway tract and the government road and containing about ten acres. After some discussion this site was rejected by the board. It belongs to Bishop & Company and would have to be purchased from them, whereas there is much government land in the neighborhood lying unused and available without cost to the public. Also, the private corporation has been intending to open up a residential tract just below the Alae plat, and if the latter were converted into a cemetery the land below would be undesirable for homes.

The board also rejected the site suggested by Land Commissioner Tucker. It is high up on the hillside and at least three miles from town, and the trail leading to it has a 5 per cent grade. Construction of a satisfactory highway to the plat would be excessively expensive and the grade would make the thoroughfare dangerous at all times.

"AMELIA M. L. SMITH" OPPOSES FRONTAGE TAX

A protest signed "Amelia M. L. Smith" against the proposed frontage tax plan for improvements in the Manoa district was read at the meeting of the board of supervisors yesterday. The letter says:

"Having heard that a small minority of property owners of Manoa have asked you for a frontage tax I hereby strenuously protest against this tax, being one of the majority of property owners opposed to the same. My lot is at the corner of Kanehameha avenue and Beckwith street. This tax will mean serious financial embarrassment to the man."

A broad smile passed around among the supervisors as the meaning of the communication became clear. They took occasion to warn the writer, however, authorizing the clerk to call her attention to a little clause in the law which says protests shall be sworn to before a notary public before being presented to the board. However, the letter was accepted and will be considered.

The Manoa frontage tax question just now is in the hands of Lester Peirce, chairman of the road committee, who is authorized to make a careful investigation, determine if possible just how widespread the demand for the tax is, and make such other preliminary arrangements as may be deemed necessary before a public hearing is called on the subject.

A request from F. Sawamura for the use of Kapiolani park on Sunday, October 25, by two Japanese aviators who desire to give exhibition flights from these grounds, was referred to the road and parks committee with instructions to report back at the meeting next Tuesday noon. Harry Murray's request for an amusement concession at Aiea Park was referred to Deputy City and County Attorney Weaver, for an opinion whether it is within the board's power to grant a temporary or permanent concession on any public park ground. It is understood Murray wants to install a merry-go-round, and for the use of this space is willing to pay the city and county on either a flat rental or percentage basis.

A young Russian from Philadelphia jumped off of a Pennsylvania express near New Brunswick, N. J., and was killed.
